IMPACT Strategies Welcomes Inaugural Class of Interns

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

June 13, 2014

This week, we welcomed the first class of interns for IMPACT Strategies for Summer 2014. The three Howard University students are from across the country and represent diverse backgrounds.

“We are excited to have these young leaders join our team,” said Angela Rye, Principal of IMPACT Strategies. “These students are our future and having them work with us this summer is a great way to prepare them for successful careers upon graduation.”

IMPACT Strategies internships provide a closer look into the political process with a government relations firm that is committed to client advocacy and social activism.

The inaugural class of interns includes:

Zha Mari Hurley: At Howard University, Zha Mari is a rising junior and Political Science Major. She also participates in various activities on campus including the New Jersey Club as the Community Service Director and is the Vice President of the NAACP-Howard Chapter.

Channing Johnson: At Howard University, Channing is a rising junior and Political Science Major and Business Administration Minor. He is also an Aerospace Medical Technician in the Air Force Reserve.

Hayley Vaughn: At Howard University, Hayley is a rising junior who is a Psychology Major and Spanish Minor. She also participates in various activities on campus including the Howard University Bisonette Dance Ensemble, the College of Arts and Sciences Student Council, 1867 Undergraduate Assistantship Program, and is a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Incorporated, Alpha Chapter.

IMPACT Strategies is a classic political consulting and government relations boutique firm with a cutting edge approach to achieving our client's goals in the Nation's Capital and beyond.
